Tested and Proven

There is a Heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well Earned Reputation.

For months the Advertiser readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. What other remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit?

Mrs. Joseph A. Woods, Summer St., Norway, Me., says: "I am thankful for what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me. You can continue publishing the statement I gave in their praise some years ago. I had been annoyed by backache and kidney trouble for a long time. I tried many remedies but got no relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. Two boxes helped me in every way. I also cured my little son of kidney weakness and made his health a great deal better."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn-Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and no other.

The Crab Apple Tree.

The leaves are all gone From the crab apple tree, Yet the apples dance on the boughs and in the trees. Such a beautiful basket You never saw, Like a rose in a basket Without one flaw. So really are they dressed In scarlet and in gold With a nut brown crest Where the stem will hold. On the swaying apple bough Through and through the air, When cold winds sigh A desolate refrain. Their sound and steady cheeks, A scarlet mass of flames, Of winter harvest speak, As welcome here again. North Waterford. L. F. Lord.

I Want One Too.

When the fields are bright with blossoms, or the roads are white with snow. I can't resist the merry looking of the horns wherever I go. As the cars in long procession, speeding by, Everybody has an auto, oh I want one too. Black and brown and brilliant yellow, red and blue and gray and green. Touring car and giant racer, runabout and limousine. Undaring, torpedo bodies, models old and new. Everybody has an auto and I want one too. Young and old and rich and humble, lawyer, doctor, millionaire. Actor, author, priest, professor, college boy and maid. Butcher, baker, grocer, farmer, I no matter what they do. Every body has an auto, so I want one too. Lovell, Me. Written by a Correspondent.

HEBRON.

Word has been received of the birth of a son to the wife of Henry Beare of Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.

The Harvest Home at Hebron Tuesday afternoon and evening last week was a success. The entertainment consisted of selections by the academy school orchestra; vocal solos by Rev. Mr. Lamb of Buckfield; instrumental solos by Lucy Teague and Alice Barden; recitations by Miss Buck of Portland; exercises by the children of Nora Pugsley's school; and a reading by Ethel Marshall. The total receipts were $132. Warren Tibbette of Auburn came with his coffee, as usual, which he made and served.

The Youth's Companion for 1913.

The Youth's Companion appeals to every interest of family life, from house-keeping to athletics. It begins with stories of youthful vim and vigor, with articles which disclose the secrets of successful play in the great game, with charming tales of life at the girls' college. But the Companion does not surrender these readers when they have entered the more serious paths of life. Mothers will welcome the page for little children and the weekly doctor's article. Fathers will find the important news of the day in it and as it is returned to the home. The entire household will appreciate the sketches which touch gently on common foibles of caricature eccentricity. In short, for less than four cents a week The Companion brings into the home clean entertainment, pure inspiration, fine facts, increase of knowledge.

Names rarely seen in tables of contents will be found in The Companion's Announcement for 1913, which will be sent upon request—with samples of the paper, to those not familiar with it.

Every new subscriber for 1913 will receive free all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1912; also, free, The Companion Window Transparency and Calendar for 1913, in rich, translucent colors—the most beautiful of all Companion souvenirs.

A WINTER COAT

not only keeps cold out, but conserves body-heat; body-fat serves the same purpose, it enables us to resist unsettled elements and serves as the great source of our body-heat. Greater body-heat means richer blood, more fat, not obesity but fat which the body consumes for warmth, vitality, resistance-power—as a furnace consumes coal for heat—Scott's Emulsion does this.

A teaspoonful after each meal makes body-heat healthy, active blood sharpens the appetite and makes all good food do good.

It drives out and keeps out colds by raising endurance-power and creating strength.

Looking Backward

In Otisfield.

By GRANVILLE FERNALD.

No. VII.

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the Hills."

I cannot enough thank the good friend who first suggested the subject of "The Highlands of Otisfield," to me in a brief Advertiser sketch. It is a most inspiring theme, and any life-long resident of the town, who has failed to be impressed with the grandeur of the broad elevations of the land, their contour and relative distances from each other, as one stands on the steep summit of "the Hill," (back in the edge of the Knight great field, now growing up to gray birches) and looks abroad in every direction, not farther than the outlines of the town, he or she must certainly be insensitive to the evidences of Supreme wisdom in the designing and formation of the wonderful face of Nature; and incapable of realizing the conception of the inspired writer: "the deep places of the earth and the strength of the hills."

Of all the hills in Otisfield or in any other town, known to me, the one known as "the Hill" is most truly unique in form and in comparison to others.

Otisfield Hill is practically a cone in form, rising symmetrically on all sides from the general surrounding levels, from the summit of which an unobstructed view is to be had in almost every direction for twenty-five to nearly one hundred miles.

The White Mountain range with Mt. Washington in the center and highest, is conspicuous the whole year, Tucker's Ravine showing a white streak of snow or ice even as late as July in some years.

To the right of Mt. Washington all around the northern frontier to the southeastern border of Oxford county the hills of Albany, Norway, Watford and other nearby towns a still further range of highlands bounding the vision in the direction of the upper Androscoggin and the lakes of Northern Oxford County.

To the left, southerly from the great white peak, is a range of slightly peaks—Mt. Kearsarge near North Conway, Mt. Choocorus, Wonalancet and the more southerly hills of the Oseage region.

This memory of the grand outlook from Otisfield Hill, including Pleasant Mountain in Denmark and Bear Mountain in South Watford is so accurate from the observations of nearly three generations of time that I believe it will hardly be questioned.

Otisfield has several notable hills with names derived from local traditions or circumstances. In this respect it is much like its near neighbors, Norway and Watford. But neither of these have any highland with so far away outlook in all directions as Otisfield Hill; neither has Harrison with its famous Summit Hill.

The highlands of Otisfield are the larger part of it. The northerly section, comprising the elevation extending southerly from the Norway line through the "Gore" district, particularly the hill which is the highest point on the road from Ryefield Bridge to the Gore schoolhouse and beyond to Wobber's is the top of the principal highlands of the town.

In my first remembrance of the families who lived along that road at its summit were Benjamin Stevens, an elderly man, father of a family of some whom I remember. One of them, Cyrus, the youngest of the family I think, met with a sad and fatal accident while riding down hill in company with a young lady. They had a young, spirited horse and by some accident to the harness the horse became frightened and commenced kicking up with both feet, when Mr. Stevens placed himself in a position to protect his lady friend from the danger from the heels of the horse, and received in his own person several violent blows from the kicks of the horse, from the effects of which his death soon ensued.

That event was one of the most mournful which occurred in the town in or about the 4th decade of the century—more than sixty years ago.

The highland just described continues on the westerly side of Moose Pond excepting a considerable depression toward Crooked River, and becomes very prominent two miles further south where it is crossed by the county road from Bolster's Mills to Otisfield Hill and from Otisfield to the Norway line.

The highest point on that road before the Hill is reached is the residence of Cyrus Brett, known to old-time townspeople as the Thad Turner place. But the summit of that hill is many rods away from the old Turner house across a broad field about the line of the Capt. Britton farm as I knew it in my boyhood; I mean the farm for many years past owned and occupied by George Bucknell. It was behind that hill crowded with a grove of tall red-oak trees the sun used to set when I first learned that the place of sunset was in the West; and in a very few years after I and my brothers used to go up to Capt. Britton's pasture and gather acorns to keep in the winter. The picture of the sunset behind the Britton pasture grove as vivid to my mind's eye as if it had been seen yesterday.

On the southern declivity of the Hill have been described were located the farms of Dea. John Hancock and Abraham Green, who were sons of Elias Hancock and Jedediah Green respectively of the first generation of pioneer settlers.

On the westerly slope of the Hill were the farms of Oliver Hancock, the highest Lovewell, Daniel Chute and John Green, whose father and predecessor was Hezekiah Green. The elevation of these farms was very high above the near valley of Crooked River and the plains bordering the stream, and was a part of the true system of Highlands of the town.

This hill descends to the swamp near the former residence of Roland Hancock, whose son, Timothy Hancock, succeeded him as owner and who was noted for his industry, excellent character as a citizen and his dexterity in the use of the axe and other farm implements. He raised a family of my own generation, but they have been long gone from my remembrance.

Col. Francis Chute and Simeon Turner owned farms adjoining on a ridge of land which is a continuation of that highland on the western border of the town which at the old home of Capt. Henry Turner (which is the highest point on the road from Bolster's Mills to Spurr's Corner) marks the notable ascent to the hill known as "Porcupine Hill," one of the most conspicuous highlands of the town.

Within my remembrance, nearly all the territory beyond Porcupine Hill to the territory beyond Oak Hill, was a Crooked River.

That was years before the settlement of Scribner's Mills was commenced in 1848, in which first invasion of that unsettled territory on either side of the river the writer had a little part, having been as agent of his father, Otis Fernald, one of the builders of the original saw-mill now the property of Scribner brothers.

The road leading from Bolster's Mills across the plains to Scribner's Mills and onward around the southern declivity of Porcupine Hill was located in the late 40's on the petition of Worthy C. Barrows and others, and opened up to settlement a fertile section of the town, later to the present time occupied by a number of prosperous families.

My first acquaintance with the territory between Porcupine Hill and the river was a number of years before the beginning of Scribner's Mills and the building of the new road. There was no opening in the woods back of Porcupine Hill except a few acres of grass land belonging to Dea. John Hancock. It was down at the place where David Lamb afterward built a brick dwelling house, in which I remember to have done some work in the field I have mentioned was purchased of Deacon Hancock by my father, and W. C. Barrows (the pioneer of the present Scribner's Mills) and I helped to do the laying that year.

Our road to the haying field was by Col. Barrows' house across a pasture and through a long piece of woods.

Not long afterward I assisted in the erection of a barn at an opening made by Johnson K. Lovewell in that part of the town which has flourished under the name of "Tanworth," which has been at one time populous enough for a good sized school district. More about Highlands anon.

J. D. Jordan.
J. D. Jordan died in Los Angeles, California, Oct. 31st, in the forty-ninth year of his age. He had been in failing health for two years and left his home in Kingman, Arizona, hoping to be benefited by the change. About a month previous to his death he submitted to an operation at the St. Barton Hospital, which revealed his trouble to be cancer of the stomach.
He was removed to apartments in the city and ministered to by a devoted wife and by two sisters who did what they could, but his days were numbered.
Mr. Jordan was born in the town of Sumner, County of Oxford, Maine, leaving his home town about thirty-one years ago. He lived some time in Denver and Cripple Creek, Col., eventually crossing to Kingman, Arizona, where he settled down to his life work of mining engineer.
Eight years ago he was married to Miss Nora Baly, his happy home life proving the wisdom of his choice. He was blessed with many friends. Coming of a God-fearing father, death held no terrors, his only bitterness being the parting from loved ones.
He was a member of I. O. O. F. Kingman Lodge, No. 7 and the funeral services were under the auspices of that order. He was brought to Sumner for interment, his friends of all persuasions making all necessary arrangements and rests in accordance with his wish, beside the graves of his father and mother.

The damage will be small. Being discovered before it had gained much headway and also the timely arrival of students prevented much damage to the academy buildings. Fire was declared out in about one hour.

WEST PARIS.

A Narrow Escape.

Llewellyn Y. Lowe narrowly escaped a serious accident last week Thursday night. He left his work at 3 P. M. on the usual time, half past five, to go to his home at North Paris and went to Richardson's blacksmith shop to get his team.

As he was driving down High street he heard an auto coming and turned out for it in the turn going into H. H. Wardwell's.

The auto had only a small light, the big head light was not lighted, so that neither could see plainly and the auto proved to be Mr. Wardwell's and as he turned into his home road he ran into Mr. Lowe's team.

The wagon was smashed up beyond repair, the horse cleared himself from it immediately, taking Mr. Lowe with him, who went out over the dasher in a hurry holding on to the reins. He let go of the reins soon after he landed in the road and the horse went with mad leaps through the village and was caught at Trap Corner, where it was thought it stepped on the reins and guided itself into a barn.

Mr. Lowe escaped serious injury except a shaking up and a lame side. Mr. Wardwell's auto too was damaged considerably.

Mrs. Chester Lane, Jr., has been sick. Nellie Marshall, a trained nurse, has been with her.

Mrs. Josephine Bates spent a few days here last week with her son, Charles Bates, and wife.

Rev. L. W. Raymond and his daughter are recording a visit from a friend, Miss Foss of Ocean Park.

The drama and sale under the auspices of the D. A. L. club to be held Nov. 7th has been indefinitely postponed.

Mrs. Sara Curtis went to Portland, Monday, for a visit of several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. F. S. Briggs.

Schools are deferred for another week and will commence again Nov. 13th, unless more cases of diphtheria break out.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Emerson of Auburn are visiting for a week or two at L. H. Penley's. Mr. Emerson is "chasing the fox" for his fall outing and vacation.

Fred Berry has sold all his cows but two and intends to give up dairy farming for a time. He also wishes to sell and buy a smaller farm, where one man can do the work.

Charles R. Briggs has purchased the Marshall farm at Trap Corner. Clarence E. Stearns, who has been occupying it, has purchased his father's farm on Stearns hill, and Eldron Stearns has purchased the Alley farm at Trap Corner.

Dr. F. H. Packard accompanied Elroy R. Davis to the C. M. G. hospital last Thursday, where he underwent a successful though serious operation for appendicitis. Mrs. Davis went down Saturday and spent Sunday with him.

Three new cases of diphtheria, have appeared since last week's report in the Advertiser. Mrs. R. J. Flavin took it, her two young children, and Mrs. Carroll Bacon and her little daughter Margaret. Mrs. Flavin has suffered the worst of any. She has Mrs. King of Portland caring for her. All the others are doing well.

Carlton Bacon of North Paris found on Oct. 30th, while roaming over the fields, some ripe strawberries and blossoms, specimens of which he brought to your reporter as worthy of notice. These surely were considering the lateness of the season. Our summer was called a cold season but the fall frosts held off wonderfully and gave us a much warmer fall season than usual and the above strawberry specimens give evidence of it.

Mrs. A. W. Bridge of Mechanic Falls, who fell down stairs and broke her shoulder while at the home of her brother, Henry Adams, at Paris Hill, several weeks ago, came last week Wednesday to C. H. Lane's to be with her sisters, Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Abbott, until she is able to return to her home. Her cousin, Mrs. Bragg, who has been caring for her, came too. Charles Adams, her brother of Norway, brought them in his auto. All the brothers and sisters were assembled at Henry Adams' new home on his birthday for a reunion, and the day had scarcely begun for their enjoyment when the above accident occurred.

There was a big crowd at Harlow's dance, Saturday night. There will not be any more at present until he gets his fall work done.

Arthur S. Hall of North Buckfield will give a series of dancing lessons in this village provided a sufficient number of pupils can be obtained.

Annie Parris has returned from North Norway where she has been working for the past five weeks. She is working in the toy shop at South Paris now.

A party of 14, members of Hamlin Temple, Pythian Sisters, South Paris, visited the Temple at Yarmouthville, Wednesday evening, by special invitation. Mrs. Abbie Abbott, Mrs. Clara Ryerson and Mrs. Kate Hammond of Paris Hill were in the party. They went down on the express, arriving there about 6 o'clock. A fine supper was served them about 7 o'clock, after which a nice entertainment was given in the lodge room, followed by a social time with music and games. They were most royally entertained. Thursday morning eight of the party took the electric train to Portland, returning home on the afternoon train, all agreeing that they had enjoyed every minute.

CARD OF THANKS.

The undersigned desire to tender their sincere thanks for themselves and in behalf of other relatives, for many kind services and attentions of Waterford friends on the occasion of their late bereavement and funeral of their mother, Mrs. Sarah J. Sanderson.

FRANK W. SANDERSON.
GEORGE E. SANDERSON.
South Waterford, Nov. 4, 1912.

SOUTH WATERFORD.
Mrs. Sarah Jane (Young) Sanderson, widow of the late John Sanderson, of Groton, Mass., died at her home in Medway, Mass., Oct. 31. The remains of the deceased were brought to Waterford for interment in Elmvale Cemetery, and the funeral observations were held at the Union church with appropriate services of pastor Rev. G. W. Sias and church choir.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson were both natives of Waterford. He was a son of Col. John Sanderson and grandson of Stephen Sanderson, one of the pioneer settlers of the town, who came from Littleton, Mass., in 1788, and settled in the southwest part of the town near Sweden.

Mrs. Sanderson was a daughter of George and Lovell (Male) Young, born July 1824. She married John Sanderson in 1852, and settled first in Waterford where her four children were born. They lived in Waterford about 17 years and removed to Templeton, Mass., about 1870; then to Groton, where Mr. Sanderson died in 1894. She soon after removed to Medway, where she continued to reside the remainder of her life.

During the years past, Mrs. Sanderson had had the constant care of one of her children or grandchildren and was also the object of the care and attention of kind near neighbors, but at the time of her death she was alone. It is believed by those who discovered her deceased that it was peaceful and painless.

Mrs. Sanderson was not a member of any church but was of the Unitarian belief. The casket was adorned by beautiful offerings of floral pieces, the tributes of affectionate friends.

The attendance of voters at the polls on Tuesday was rather slim, only 204 votes being cast of a possible 300.

Mrs. Belle Haggood was entertaining as a visiting guest last Friday, her friend, Mrs. Mabel Stone and little daughter, Muriel of Norway.

May Mayberry of Newhall, Windham, is a boarding guest of Mrs. Martha Sawin and was a visitor of Bear Mountain Grange at the last meeting.

Two attendants at the session of the Congregational Conference at North Waterford, last Thursday were Mrs. Freeman Haggood and Mrs. C. F. Riggs.

The Halloween Ball announced to be given Nov. 1 but postponed on account of the rain, came off with great satisfaction to all concerned, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 5. The proscenium of the hall was profusely decorated with all necessary paraphernalia of suggestive objects supposed to be appropriate to the night when witches ride abroad astride of broom sticks and black cats contribute their score of hideous accompaniments of the occasion by all the demonstrations belonging to a first-class theatrical show to your reporter. But the whole scheme of decoration reflects much credit on the committee who conceived and executed it and evinced the possession of a superior gift of ideas.

The music was superb as usual and the ladies and misses challenged the admiration of all spectators by their elegance of costumes and general loveliness. Refreshments of ice cream were served at intermission.

A STONE ROOFING

A good many people say and some people really think that none of the manufactured roofings are durable. Now this is a great mistake. A roofing that is composed of Asbestos and Portland Cement is practically everlasting. If you wish to pay the price, which is not very high either, you can have a roofing that will last as long as the Pyramids. As the philosophic John D. Rockefeller says about Sunday School, "The more you put in, the more you can take out."

J-M Asbestos Roofing is literary a sheet of pliable stone—with the rust-proof, rot-proof, acid-proof and lasting qualities of stone and with the fire-proof quality of Asbestos. And—like all stone—it never need painting.

We are agents for all grades of H. W. Johns-Manville Co's Asbestos Roofings and can furnish them for any desired price. Call and see the roofings or ask for samples and prices.

DEMAND FOR TRAINED MEN

Great Era of Highway Development Is Now at Hand

WASTE OF PUBLIC FUNDS

Could Be Eliminated by Establishment of Course in Highway Engineering and Construction in University of Maine—John C. Scates' Timely Suggestion

(John C. Scates)

Should the University of Maine establish a course in highway engineering and construction? It is practically a state institution, deriving a large part of its funds from the state—$100,000 annually. Such a course would be productive of more real benefit to the state than any other course in its curriculum, besides being of great advantage to many of its students. The state and nation are entering a great era of highway development somewhat similar to that of the railroads of half a century ago. In the next few years there is destined to be a lively demand for men who have a scientific knowledge of highway construction, for the primitive, crude and wasteful methods of today must be supplanted by a more economical and intelligent system. Our own state has just voted by an overwhelming majority for the appropriation of $2,000,000 for highway construction.

JOHN C. SCATES.

There is no department of the public service where so much of the public fund is wasted as in the construction and maintenance of our highways. It is unquestionably safe to state that thirty percent of the money now expended on the roads of Maine is dissipated. This means an annual destruction of more than $500,000, which amount might just as well be gathered into one pile and burned. The time is coming when the public will fully appreciate this fact, and then there will be evolved a system somewhat similar and as efficient as that adopted by our railways. Trained men will be necessary to put such a plan into execution. We have training schools for our teachers and those engaged in nearly every other vocation, why not for our road builders?

It must be remembered that the state highway department has absolutely no control or voice over seventy-five percent of the highway expenditures, being entirely devoid of the least semblance of authority in the matter of maintenance. Men having such a training would have a technical knowledge of the value of road building material. In the construction of a macadam road, certain varieties of stone are good while others are absolutely worthless. Some are suitable for the lower courses while worthless for the top or last course. Only an analysis can determine their respective values. The same is true of the bitumens and gravels.

The field is full of civil, railroad, and electrical engineers, but there can rarely be found a competent man with the necessary technical knowledge of highway engineering. Cities, counties and states are appropriating millions for roads with no one to properly direct the expenditure. Especially is this true in the South and West. Here is a field full of opportunities for the young man with the requisite knowledge.

Besides, the University of Maine could do no greater service to the state than to establish such a course. It certainly is a subject that should receive the serious consideration of the faculty.

A Sick Man

Writes Dr. Hartman About Kidney Disease.

A gentleman writes me: "I was greatly interested in your article describing the Kauffmann case of serious disease of the kidneys. The description of his case exactly outlines my condition. I am sure if Peruna cured him as you say, it would cure me also. I am losing flesh rapidly and the doctors say I have every symptom of Bright's disease of the kidneys. If you think I would be benefited by Peruna I will certainly try some as the doctors have practically given me up. The same as they did him."

In reply I wish to say, first, that I never make any promises as to what Peruna will cure. No physician can make positive statements of that sort. I can say this much, however, if you were in your place I should certainly give you a trial. I know of no other remedy that would be so likely to be of use to you in your present condition as Peruna. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bedtime. Continue this for two or three weeks and then if there is anything you wish to ask me further write me and I will give you my letter prompt attention.

If I find that the Peruna is not helping you I will be perfectly frank and tell you so, for I would not have you take Peruna unless it was really helping you. But it has rescued so many cases of kidney disease that I am quite confident you will find it exactly suited to your case.

Kidney disease begins with catarrh of the kidneys. Peruna is a catarrh remedy. Unless the destruction of the kidneys is already too great Peruna relieves the catarrh and the cause of the kidney disease is removed.

I shall anxiously await a report of your case. Remember all letters are sacredly confidential. I never use any one's name or address without his written consent. My correspondence is absolutely private. PERUNA IS FOR SALE AT ALL DRUG STORES.

SPECIAL NOTICE—Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna, to such an extent that the formula is now put out under the name of KA-PA-R-NO, manufactured by KA-PA-R-NO COMPANY, Columbus, Ohio. Write them and they will be pleased to send you a free booklet.

What the squirrel likes is a wood in the country, where he has plenty of number of trees to his heart's content, and a lot of nuts, bark, buds and seeds, also an occasional egg or a young bird, to his stomach's content. The squirrel hibernates in winter as a rule, but if the weather is mild, often wakes up and occasionally by laying by a store of provisions before he turns in for his winter sleep. Squirrels when mating build a nest, known as "drey." The young ones usually appear in June.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Wm. D. Druggist

An East Summer Bear.

We saw a flock of wild geese with about one hundred in it going straight north. Pretty late in the season for them to be going in that direction, Oct. 27th.

While I was in search of geese in the vicinity of Mud pond in Peru and not far from Tumble Down Dick mountain the first of August, I tracked a large bear quite a distance on an old logging road, but said nothing to anyone about it.

About three weeks later I met Harry Dudley on the Buckfield road. He said they had heard a bear several nights, and that there had been a number of sheep killed recently near where he lives on a farm with Sammy Keene in South Hartford.

Mr. Dudley invited Harold Spaulding and me and our bear dog to spend a few days with him, but at that time we could not accept the invitation.

Not long after this meeting took place Charles Buck's son was driving on the Buckfield road with four horses hitched to a heavy load, and a large bear came into the road not more than eight rods away and stopped to gaze at the team and its driver.

As luck would have it Ben Gerriah, a Buckfield business man who buys beef cattle, fat hogs, poultry, apples or any old thing anywhere, popped around the turn in the road very suddenly in his little red auto and Mr. Bear made his escape for the woods close at hand. Mr. Gerriah said it was quite a Wild West show before they got the horses straightened out and ready to continue on their way. Yes, the horses were well frightened over the sudden appearance of Tuddy and the boy who is yet in his teens. "Nuff sed."

Now to keep a good thing going, some one somewhere reported the very next day in a good natured kind of a way that Henry Davenport while in his orchard saw a bear in a sweet apple tree. Henry lost no time in making the house for his rifle and on his quick return taking good aim he emptied a couple 32 40 cartridges and his bearship fell to the ground a victim of heart trouble.

Now the readers will note this bear now becomes more serious as the good old autumn days roll along, and soon this one and that one began to call on that good natured specimen of humanity, Henry Davenport.

Will Crockett and Warren Lothrop of West Sumner drove over to see Henry's bear. While he was on his way home he met several going Henry's way but Will was sailing right along and had no time to talk about his visit at Henry's.

The next day, Henry, while driving, met two ladies not far from his place, who were bubbling over with joy and pleased to congratulate him as being the king of summer bear hunters, and certainly should wear the belt.

"By the way Henry what color is your bear?"

Henry replied, "He is black and white," and these poor innocent members of the gentle sex journeyed on to see the wonder.

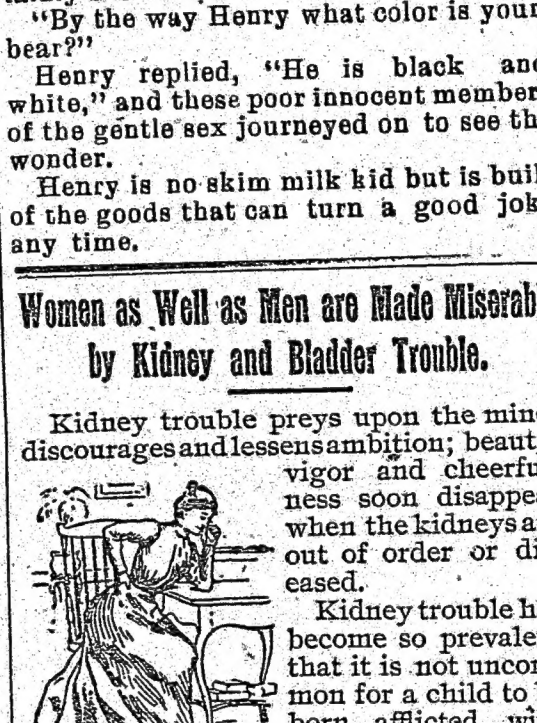

Henry is no skim milk kid but is built of the goods that can turn a good joke any time.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine is cloudy, if the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonials received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Constipated, and Don't Know It!

By Dr. True

It seems odd, but it is true, that you may be constipated and not know it.

You can see why it is. Take a glass and pour in water until full. If you keep on pouring in water after the glass is full, it will run over, but the glass stays full.

Just so with your bowels; they get full of waste matter, and then they pass off or expel from the body only about the same amount that goes into it in the form of food.

So you may have a movement of the bowels every day and yet there will remain waste matter that ought to be removed.

Give your bowels a gentle but thorough cleaning out and you'll feel great.

The prescription I used for this is put up and sold under the name of Dr. True's Elixir. Doctors and druggists use it in their own families. Costs but little and brings health to men, women and children. Tastes good. Works gently. Remember the name, Dr. True's Elixir. Price, 35c, 50c and $1.00.
